High quality, individualized neurological care for your child can be provided only by a physician who feels truly passionate about his profession.

Having your child diagnosed with a neurological condition can be intimidating, challenging and scary, but with my guidance and advise, we will take an easier journey together.

I am committed to treating your child with the tools that I have learned to use throughout many years of training and research.

I am proud to use both traditional pharmacological, as well as natural remedies, in an integrative approach.
